To achieve this, we have implemented a comprehensive framework aimed at preventing, detecting, and addressing any instances of ragging effectively.

Education Initiatives: Throughout the academic year, AMRN conducted several education initiatives and orientation sessions dedicated to enlightening students about the adverse repercussions of ragging.

Freshman Orientation: As part of the freshman orientation program, AMRN conducted thorough sessions to familiarize incoming students with the college's anti-ragging policy, with a strong emphasis on fostering mutual respect and dignity among peers.

Seminars and Workshops: AMRN arranged sessions led by distinguished speakers and experts with the aim of increasing awareness about ragging. These events were dedicated to cultivating a culture of inclusivity, empathy, and responsible behaviour among students.

Awareness Campaign: Throughout the campus, vibrant posters and flyers were strategically placed, adorned with powerful slogans and messages that vehemently condemned ragging. These materials also aimed to encourage students to promptly report any incidents they observed.

Reporting Mechanisms: AMRN has implemented various channels for reporting incidents of ragging, with a primary focus on ensuring student comfort and safety when seeking assistance. These reporting mechanisms include:

Helpline Numbers: Dedicated helpline numbers are available to students, offering them the option to report instances of ragging anonymously or to seek immediate assistance in case of emergencies.

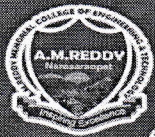

Online Complaint Portal: A discreet online complaint portal has been introduced, empowering students to confidentially submit reports of ragging. The college administration is committed to swiftly investigating and taking appropriate action on all complaints received through this platform.

Preventive Measures: In addition to awareness campaigns and reporting mechanisms, the college has implemented various strategies to deter instances of ragging:

Mentorship Programs: Senior students were appointed as mentors to incoming freshmen, fostering supportive relationships and providing guidance to help them navigate college life without experiencing ragging incidents.

Surveillance Systems: CCTV cameras were strategically installed across the campus, especially in areas prone to ragging incidents, to monitor activities and deter potential offenders.
